Funding source: RAND IR&D
- 2005 ACTSMART Adhere: Evaluation for sustaining and enhancing participation in antiretroviral therapy programs. Durban, South Africa
Met with local partners and evaluated field site for development of participatory research project on determinants of adherence to antiretroviral therapy.
Funding source: United States Agency for International Development Cooperative Agreement with MEASURE Evaluation
- 2000-2001 Gender, Culture Change, and Fertility Decline in Honduras: Catacamas, Olancho, Honduras
Led ethnographic study of the culture of natality. Conducted ethnographic interviewing (semi-structured and unstructured), participant observation, instrument validation for language and cultural appropriateness, and trained local interviewers to administer instrument to 400 people using a mixture of sampling strategies. All phases of research conducted using a blending of qualitative and quantitative methodology.
Funding source: RAND Small Grants Program For Research on Central America

- 2000 The Anthropology of Health during Reconstruction in Post-Hurricane Honduras: Catacamas, Olancho, Honduras
Conducted ethnographic study of disaster reconstruction in post-Hurricane Mitch Honduras. Conducted nutritional study of children under 5 years old in families most affected by the hurricane. Administered structured questionnaires including 24-hour food recalls, market basket analysis, epidemiological analyses, infant and maternal mortality instruments. Managed anthropometric measurements on focal children.
Funding Source: National Science Foundation (BSC 0076744), with preliminary support from the International Hurricane Center, Florida International University
- 1998 Improving Seizure Treatment in Rural Latin America: Catacamas, Olancho, Honduras
Participatory research with local health NGO to develop and conduct unstructured and semi-structured interviews about epilepsy and the social impact of the disease on epilepsy sufferers and their families. Pre-tested four questionnaire instruments translated from English to Spanish for language and cultural relevancy. Created electronic database for recording, storage, and analysis of survey data.
Funding Source: Faculty Research Grant from the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at the University of Florida
- 1997 Cognitive Models of Fertility Decline in Oaxaca City, Oaxaca, Mexico
Conducted unstructured and semi-structured interviews to assess the variation in positive and negative childbearing motivations in three Mexican states. Results of quantitative analysis of qualitative interview data appear in Population and Environment.
Funding Source: Department of Anthropology, University of Florida
