The RAND Corporation is a nonprofit institution that helps improve policy and decisionmaking through research and analysis.

This electronic document was made available from www.rand.org as a public service of the RAND Corporation.

Skip all front matter: Jump to Page 1

Support RAND
Browse Reports & Bookstore
Make a charitable contribution

For More Information
Visit RAND at www.rand.org
Explore the RAND Center for Middle East Public Policy
View document details

Limited Electronic Distribution Rights
This document and trademark(s) contained herein are protected by law as indicated in a notice appearing later in this work. This electronic representation of RAND intellectual property is provided for non-commercial use only. Unauthorized posting of RAND electronic documents to a non-RAND website is prohibited. RAND electronic documents are protected under copyright law. Permission is required from RAND to reproduce, or reuse in another form, any of our research documents for commercial use. For information on reprint and linking permissions, please see RAND Permissions.
This product is part of the RAND Corporation corporate publication series. Corporate publications describe or promote RAND divisions and programs, summarize research results, or announce upcoming events.
The RAND Center for Middle East Public Policy (CMEPP) brings together analytic excellence and regional expertise from across the RAND Corporation to address the most critical political, social, and economic challenges facing the Middle East today. Our goal is to inform policy in ways that help improve the security and well-being of people living in the region. Through research and analysis, CMEPP helps public and private decisionmakers solve problems, tackle challenges, and identify ways to make society safer, smarter, and more prosperous. Our research focuses not only on near-term problems but also on critical long-term trends and solutions.
OUR ADVISORY BOARD

The advisory board plays a critical role in advancing CMEPP’s mission. As board members, prominent leaders in both the public and private sectors contribute their diverse experience, perspectives, expertise, and resources to RAND and its Middle East work. Advisory board members

- work with RAND researchers to help shape Middle East research priorities and agendas
- provide philanthropic support for CMEPP and its initiatives
- help RAND disseminate research findings and impact regional policy
- attract top research talent and support for RAND’s Middle East work.

For a current list of CMEPP advisory board members, visit www.rand.org/cmepp-board.

OUR STAFF

As part of a nonprofit and nonpartisan organization, our experts are committed to high-quality, objective research and analysis. They hold advanced degrees in an array of disciplines and specialize in a uniquely broad range of capabilities, from long-range planning and forecasting to risk assessment and analysis, program evaluation, strategic planning, business process improvement, engineering, and technology assessment. Many of our Middle East experts have advanced regional language capabilities and were born or have lived in the region.

RECENT RESEARCH AND ANALYSIS

- Democratic transitions
- Economic development
- Education reform
- Energy
- Health reform
- Middle East youth
- Regional security
- Terrorism and radicalization
- Transportation

Scan the code with your smartphone to learn more about the RAND Center for Middle East Public Policy.

Dalia Dassa Kaye directs the RAND Center for Middle East Public Policy and is a senior political scientist at RAND. She is the recipient of many awards and fellowships, including a Brookings Institution research fellowship and The John W. Gardner Fellowship for Public Service. Kaye is the author of Talking to the Enemy: Track Two Diplomacy in the Middle East and South Asia; and Beyond the Handshake: Multilateral Cooperation in the Arab-Israeli Peace Process. She has also coauthored numerous RAND studies, including Coping with a Nuclearizing Iran; Israel and Iran: A Dangerous Rivalry; and Artists and the Arab Uprisings.