3.1. Real Output 1870–1939, Four Powers ................. 19
3.2. Real Military Expenditures 1870–1939, Five Powers ... 20
3.3. Military Expenditures as a Share of Output 1870–1939, Four Powers ........................................ 20
3.4. French Real Output Versus Real Military Expenditures ......................................................... 22
3.5. French Real Output Versus Military Expenditures-to-Output Ratio ........................................... 22
3.6. French Military Expenditures as a Share of Central Government Expenditure ...................... 23
3.7. French Active-Duty Military Personnel ............... 24
3.8. German Real Output Versus Real Military Expenditures ............................................................ 25
3.9. German Real Output Versus Military Expenditures-to-Output Ratio .......................................... 26
3.10. German Military Expenditures as a Share of Central Government Expenditure ..................... 26
3.11. German Active-Duty Military Personnel .......... 27
3.15. Japanese Military Personnel ......................... 30
3.17. Russian Military Personnel ......................... 32
3.19. U.S. Real Output Versus Military Expenditures-to-
Output Ratio
3.20. U.S. Military Expenditures as a Share of Government Expenditures
4.1. The Ambition Hypothesis
4.2. The Fear Hypothesis
4.3. The Legitimacy Hypothesis