The authors are grateful to MG Howard J. von Kaenel, the Military Deputy to the Deputy Under Secretary of the Army (International Affairs) for sponsoring the research. We gratefully acknowledge the interest and support from the staff at DUSA-IA, especially Lawrence E. Ewert (chief, Multinational Force Compatibility Branch), Donald R. Davidson, Mark E. McDonough, Jeff Stefani, and Andy Tarr.

Many people in the Department of the Army, the Joint Staff, and the Office of the Secretary of Defense deserve thanks for their time and cooperation with the project staff. The following individuals were especially helpful in the course of this research: COL Karl Farris (ret.) at the U.S. Army Peacekeeping Institute, LTC Richard R. Caniglia at the American, British, Canadian, Australian Armies’ Standardization Program (ABCA), and Mr. Jim Stone at the Joint Warfighting Center (JWFC). Harry F. Rowley (DUSA-IA), Elizabeth A. May (DUSA-IA), and Craig College (Deputy Director of PA&E) shared their knowledge of and provided data on Army resources.

The authors are indebted to Paul Davis (RAND), COL Karl Farris (ret.), and Thomas Young (Naval Postgraduate School) for providing thoughtful comments on an earlier draft of this report. We also thank Kevin McCarthy and Jefferson Marquis of RAND, as their work on engagement strategy influenced our views toward MFC. Nikki Shacklett edited the report.
